Heli Kautonen @helimuori · Jun 26

Linda Doyle: There's no neutral design. Indeed, design is ALWAYS political.

#LIBER2019

Masud Khokhar @mkhokhar · Jun 26

Replying to @klingstadt

I really enjoyed the keynote from Linda. We need to be brave in our role in changing society around

Elena Lagoudi @ElenaLagoudi · Jun 26

Linda Doyle talking about technology & voca boundaries between museums & libraries are civic engagement. It's all the same in the end.

Dr. Sandra Collins @SandriCollins · Jun 26

Linda Doyle @TCDdeanresearch talking about SmartCities & InternetOfThings - takes me back to my SFI days! 😊 @scienceirel - some thought provoking examples on hidden infrastructure, labour & bias

"Open Science is a question of democracy more than anything else...and researchers need to take back control from publishers" - Astrid Söderbergh Widding, president @Stockholm_Uni #LIBER2019

Jonas Gilbert @JonasGilbert · Jun 27
#LIBER2019 day 2 starting with keynote by Astrid Söderbergh Widding, on transition to open science

Astrid Söderbergh Widding @AstridStockholm · Jun 27
"Universities and funding bodies need to work together and jointly finance the agreements with publishers." - Astrid Söderbergh Widding, president of @Stockholm_Uni

Ed Fay @digitalfay · Jun 27
Astrid suggesting that publishers benefit from lack of strategic alignment on scholarly comms within universities (eg funders, researchers, libraries, senior management) which makes it possible to continue incoherent and unjustifiable business models #LIBER2019

Joanna Ball @joanna_ball · Jun 27
Astrid Söderbergh Widding @Stockholm_Uni: Bibsam decision to reject the Elsevier deal was a strategic attempt to change the scientific information market #LIBER2019

CONUL Conference @CONULconf · Jun 27
Astrid Söderbergh @Stockholms_univ the relationship between the Head Librarian and the President differs across University, however whatever the relationship, the key message is Dialogue, Dialogue, Dialogue #openscience #LIBER2019 @LIBEReurope

Great motivation to take home from #LIBER2019 by Richard Ovenden (thanks to @Denkschets)

Inge VanNieuwerburgh @ivnieuwe · Jul 30
I wasn't able to go to #LIBER2019 but finally managed to hear the impressive speech by Richard Ovenden on the importance of preservation and access to archives, physically as well as digitally, and the role libraries play. youtube.com/WH5STDXWPI via @YouTube

Dafydd Tudur @dafydd_tudur · Jun 28
'The truth is under attack'. Richard Ovenden calls for libraries and archives to regroup around preservation, a core mission that has fundamental implications for society. #LIBER2019

Patricia Kiliard @p_kiliard · Jun 28
Richard Ovenden speaking up for digital legal deposit in Ireland. Urges TCD and the National Library of Ireland to re-double their efforts to gain the right to archive the Irish Web. Unless we preserve a record of the past “a lie becomes the truth” #liber2019

Nobody knows what the future will look like... but the research landscape is changing quickly!

What can libraries do?

"Make the invisible visible."
"Try something new."
"Libraries and archives are one of the pillars of open society."
"Make research results available to all."
"Facilitate data collection."
"Be a community hub."
"Be open."

Together we can solve big challenges!

Research libraries for society.
